4. Mr. [REDACTED] advised that he has discussed our budget situation with [REDACTED] and OTR will undoubtedly receive the [REDACTED] dollars necessary to take care of the well-known deficit. In answer to my question concerning funds available for the Master Plan [REDACTED] it was stated that the [REDACTED] has made available three additional planners who will do the engineering survey [REDACTED] thereby saving us approximately $80,000. Mr. [REDACTED] voiced the opinion that it might be desirable to request funds next year for the A & E and then go for the total [REDACTED] in 1961. No opposition to this was voiced by Mr. Baird.

5. [REDACTED] will be circulated and pertains to the use of the new dialing system of the telephone company. Naturally, there is concern over people dialing long distance. The notice warns that long distance calls must be made through the operator. If this practice is not followed, tracings will be made and the individual held accountable for the necessary money.

6. Mr. Baird stated he had half an hour with Mr. Bissell. The meeting was on a very informal basis. He felt the talk was relatively productive. Mr. Baird stated that he was naturally concerned about the replacement of Mr. [REDACTED] as DD/P Training Officer. Mr. Bissell said no selection has been made. However, Mr. Bissell was not very happy with the personnel management of the Clandestine Services, particularly the annual summer shuffle of approximately 100 senior people, for which no plans of any kind had been made. Bissell stated that it appeared that he needed a man directly under him who was concerned with training and personnel management. [REDACTED] name came up, but Mr. Bissell was afraid that Dan could not be used until after the Task Force problems had been resolved. However, it may very likely be that if this materializes, Dan may be assigned the job.
